Calves
LOVE
PEACH TEATS

and here's why...

Why all calves love Peach Teats

There is a milk opening on each side of the nipple, situated so that the crown of the nipple remains intact and the teat is leak resistant even when used at the bottom of a milk container. These openings also work as a second valve.

With traditional teats when a calf squeezes the teat most of the milk goes right back into the container.

The Peach Teat's unique patented internal collapsing flap-valve holds the milk in the teat. This means it is much more responsive to the calf's needs.

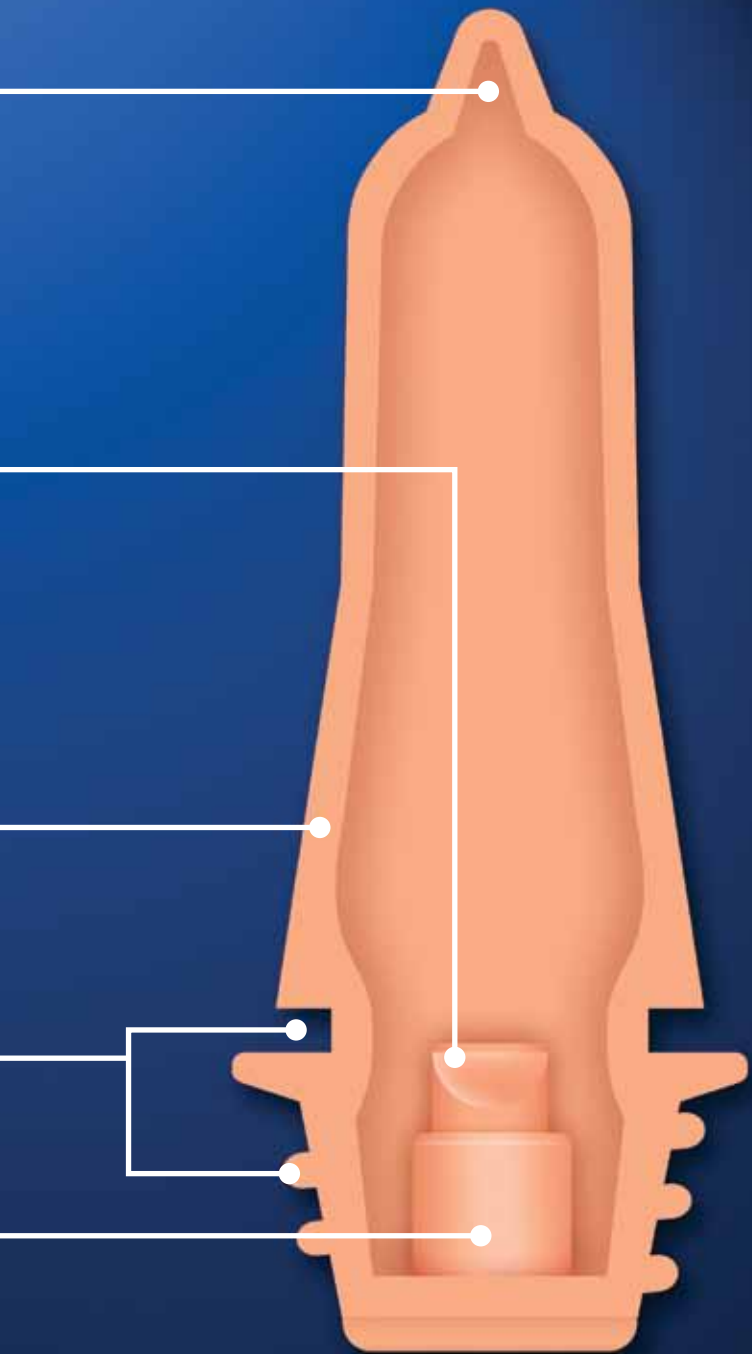

The valve never closes in its relaxed state so resists blocking. It is designed to function like a real cows teat, moving all the time while the calf is suckling. This also means that the teat is self-cleaning.

Peach Teats are manufactured from a natural rubber specially developed to meet the needs of calf rearers, ensuring that the teats feel natural and comfortable to the calf, and may help prevent mouth ulcers.

The Peach Teat will pull through or screw on.

The Peach Teat valve is made from a micro-thin, extremely durable material for lasting performance.

Peach Teats can be used for tube or gravity feeding using any container. Hole size: 22mm ($\frac{7}{8}$ ").

Peach Teats are the next best thing to mum's. Calves will produce lots of saliva, providing significant improvements in a calf's health.

We've used Peachteats for the last five years and found them brilliant for young calves and young staff.

I trust anyone to feed the calves because they will be well fed with Peach Teats.

Another innovation from Peach Teats:

The Screw-in thread

- Great for complete cleaning
- Changing teats is quick and easy
- Standard fitting on all Stallion feeders

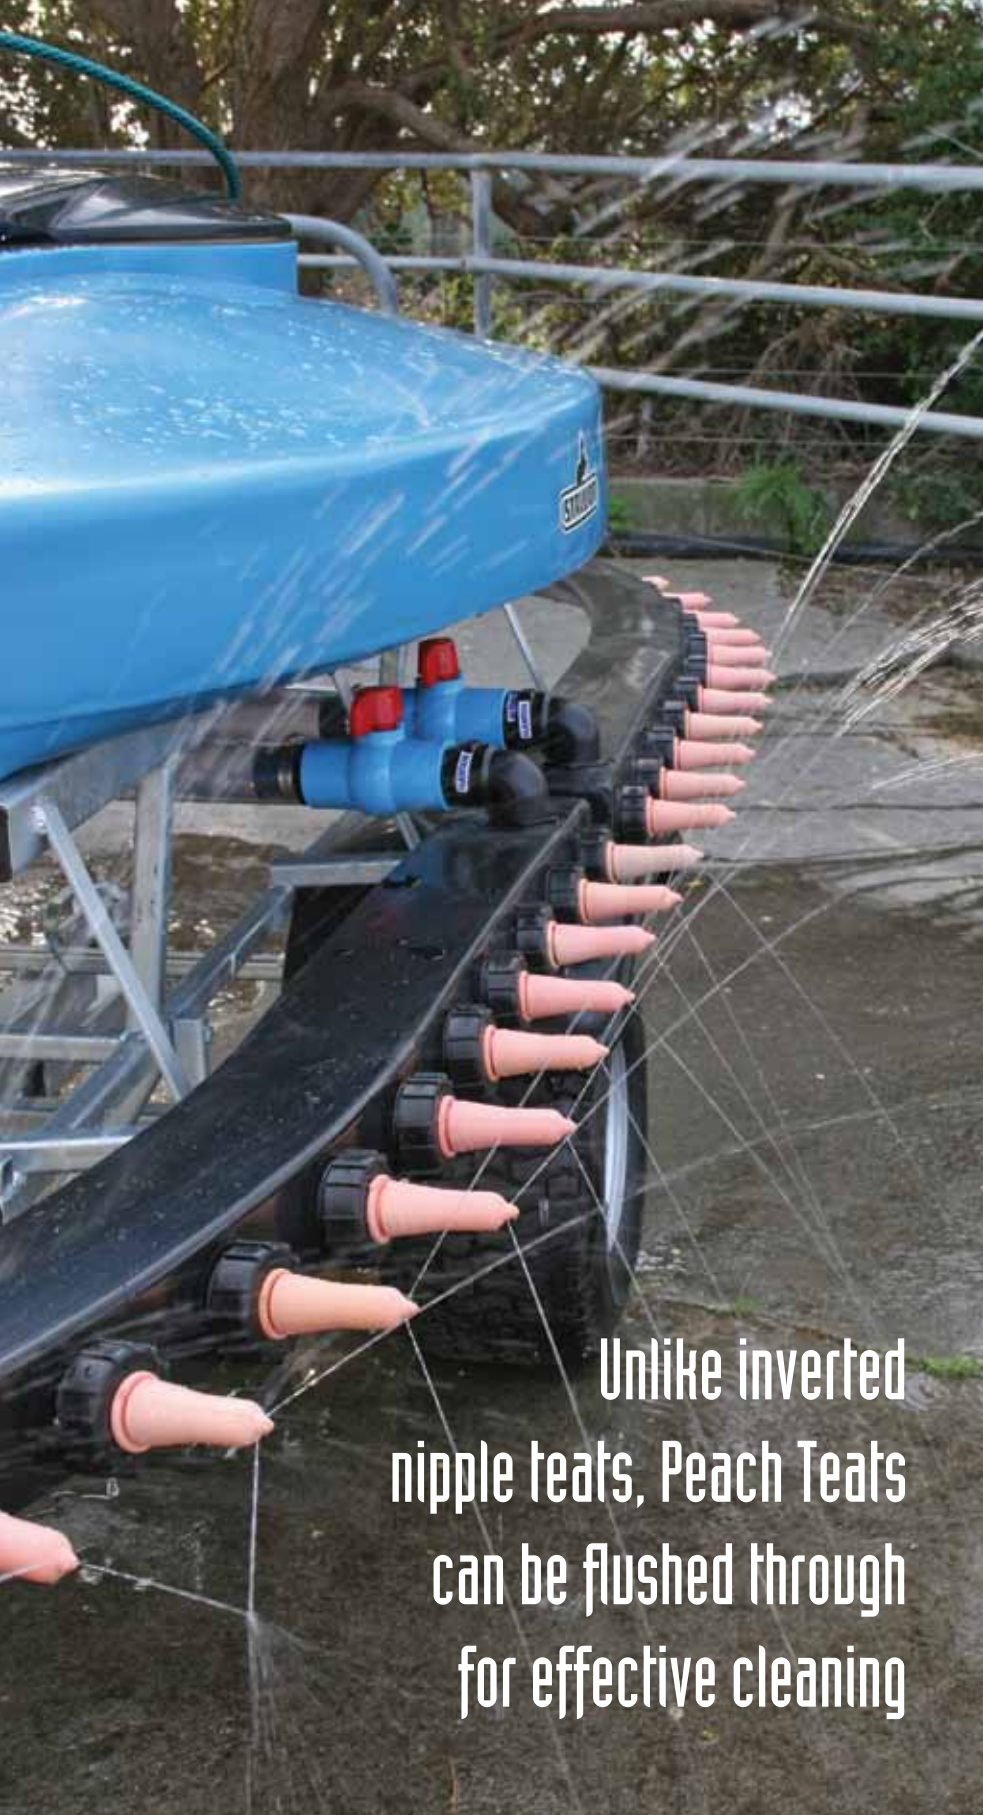

All Peach Teats can also be pulled through any feeder.

The Screw-in Peach Teats are available in black and pink.

A Cut-away Peach Teat is also available to fit all feeders on the market.

Unlike inverted
nipple teats, Peach Teats can be flushed through for effective cleaning

With the commercial rearing of 6,000 calves annually we rely on the Peach Teat to give consistency of milk delivery and durability to create a healthy, strong calf.

Peach Teats give an even flow of milk for calves. The valve is very beneficial as it means more chance of each calf getting a similar volume of milk. The Peach Teats are made of quality rubber – the teats last longer than any other brand we have used.

The most natural feeding teat
on the market...

You would think that the teat was alive!

Calves feed better
and do not stress
or fidget.

Health problems, such as scours or pneumonia, are reduced.

It can even be milked
on a milking machine...

proving that it
totally simulates
the cow's teat!

My experience as a vet is that the foundation of successful calf rearing is getting enough colostrum into calves as early, and as easy, as possible, and ensuring calves are well feed in the critical first four days of life.
